ITS EQUAL HAS NOT YET BEEN SEEN IN COLORADO OR THE WEST

Colorado Springs Proves Her Ability to Set a Horse Show Standard for Bigger Cities to Meet---Society Is Its Patron.

THE first night at the horse show indicates anything, Colorado Springs has just begun enjoying the greatest exhibition of its kind ever given in the west. Sleek horses, natty rigs, enthusiastic horsemen and "society" were all there last night. There were fully 2,000 people gathered around the arena when the show began, and most of them remained until after midnight, when the last event on the program came to an end. It was a fine show and promises well for the next two days.

Only one accident marred the performances last night. In the first event, for trotters, K. MacDermid, who was driving Susie R., had a bad spill, and had it not been for his presence of mind the accident might have been much more serious. The men were driving around the arena at a lively pace at the time and at the southeast corner, while Susie was making the turn, the axle of the road cart broke and Mr. MacDermid was thrown out. He held onto the lines and was dragged about 50 feet. The horse would undoubtedly have run away and might have collided with the dozen other entries had not Mr. MacDermid held to the lines. As it was the horse was stopped and the driver escaped without any serious injury.

Another event not down on the program was a dispute between the managers of the show and the Midland band. The band had a contract to play until 11 o'clock, and when the members wanted to quit at that time there was some argument which ended with a truce. The band played until nearly 12 o'clock.

The first event on the program was to have been that for high school horses, but Columbus, Mr. Bernard's famous stepper, was found to be lame, and the event was postponed on that account. The roster classes brought out a dozen fine entries. Mr. Rust's Viometta was decided to be the winner by the judges. Princess Reade, one of Mr. Ashbrook's entries, was popular with the crowd and got the blue ribbon. Juanita was third.

The event for galloping horses, for mares and geldings, had to be judged twice, as Silver Plume, a stallion, was given second prize before the mistake was discovered. Limestone Belle was the favorite with both the spectators and the judges and was given the blue ribbon. She was ridden by E. J. Sims, of this city. The mare is owned by Mr. Woodward, of Kansas City, and is worth $3,000. She is the principal rival of Columbus in the high school class. Ryland, owned by J. A. Potts, of Mexico, Mo., was awarded the second prize in the saddle horse event, and Top Bass, owned by Mr. Bernard, was awarded the third prize. The well known trapper, got third prize. Daisy Dean, owned by Frank L. Smith, of Denver, was fourth.

The favorites did not win in the four-hand class, but that was principally because Mr. Bartlett's appointments were careless. Mr. Ashbrook drove his fours with a masterly hand, and the tally-ho and harness were perfect. He was given the blue ribbon. Colonel Hughes, of Denver, displayed his fine animals and gliding vehicle to splendid advantage. The red ribbon went to his team and Mr. Bartlett, with Bonnie, Lassie, Royal and Sultan, took third prize.

Limestone Belle, ridden by Mr. Sims, gave an exhibition of high school work after the four-hand event and proved to be a great favorite. The mare's stepping was fine and the applause which greeted her was the most enthusiastic of the show.

The class for ponies ridden by boys and girls was popular. Some of the youngsters rode like veterans. Master Davis was given first prize and blue ribbon. There were also winners in the ponies ridden by D. F. Hogan, of Denver, got the red ribbon, and Duchess, ridden by Merrill Barnard, of this city, was given the yellow.

The saddle pony class, best gentleman rider, brought out a good field. Joe Kenyon, on Dot, proved to be the winner and he was decidedly the crowd's favorite, too. Dan Hogan, of Denver, rode one of his string and drew second prize. The riders were all amateurs.

The class for ladies' driving created enthusiasm. The rigs, harness and horses were all of the best. Mrs. Frank H. Pettigall, driving a dapple gray to a spider rig, won first prize.

The potato race was exciting and the spectators seemed to be as much interested as the contestants. The limit for lancing the potatoes and taking them from one box to another was 10 minutes. Ralph Knight, of Kansas City, got a good start and won the first prize easily. Joe Kenyon was second. The riders were cheered throughout the race.

In the jumping class the horses were made to take the fence. It was after midnight when this event was over, but most of the crowd stayed to see the spectacular jumping of the horses.

Even at the late hour an extra event was decided. It was a class for four-hands, and Dr. C. A. Holder, of Denver, had the satisfaction of seeing the blue ribbon pinned to one of his fine leaders. It was hard for the judges to decide between Dr. Holder's team and that of Chester A. Arthur, Jr., of this city.

The arena was in fine condition and the only complaint the spectators had to make was the poor lighting. Tonight there will be more lights and the occupants of boxes and seats towards the ends of the arena will have no trouble in viewing the exhibitions.

The judges for the show are Mayor Wright, George L. Goulding, Captain French and C. A. Pratt.

The show was preceded by two parades. In the afternoon a number of the horses entered in the different events were led on through the streets and in the evening the riding and driving club paraded.

The exhibition will begin at 2:30 o'clock and that in the evening at 8. The afternoon classes include pony tandem, pairs of roadsters, gaited saddle horses, single harness horses, pacers, runabout, harness ponies, road four-hands, ponies in harness, jumping, single horses to trap and high school horses.

The evening classes will be for roadsters, champion gaited saddle horses, tandems, saddle ponies, polo ponies, harness horses pairs to traps, potato race and sporting tandems.

OPINION DIVIDED AS TO GRAVITY OF SITUATION

New York, Aug. 20.—The officers and passengers of the steamer Orizaba which arrived from Colon today said that the reports of trouble between Venezuela and Colombia were greatly exaggerated.

"We neither saw nor heard anything of any trouble while in the harbor," said Captain Smith.

"I did not go ashore myself, but I know that everything was peaceful and quiet. The government had put a few soldiers on the trains running across the isthmus, but that is often done."

Col. J. R. Shaler, general superintendent of the Panama railroad, who was a passenger on the Orizaba, ridiculed the reports of battles and incursions at the isthmus, and said there was no revolution in Colombia. Neither had there been any interference with his road. He continued:

"The fact that I have left Colon for a trip to New York is evidence that there is no disorder or trouble whatever at the isthmus. I went at a rate which I know never took place. There were many battalions engaged and 900 dead, but there were never any such forces and they never saw each other and nobody was scratched."

"People who do not understand conditions down there take these stories seriously but those who are on the ground do not."

Asked why the United States had sent warships there he said:

"Well, I suppose that the consular officials receive startling information as to what is going to happen and, not knowing the people as we do, take it seriously and think that they must be on the safe side and so they report to Washington and the ships are sent as a matter of course."

Henry Willbarrow, counsel for one of the asphalt companies, arrived today on the steamer Maracibo from Venezuela. Mr. Doam said:

"Caracas is quiet. Everything is proceeding as usual. The guarantees of the constitution have, however, been suspended on account of the invasion of Venezuelan soil according to information received by President Castro to that effect. War bulletins are issued at frequent intervals. General Castro in an interview on August 10 to the isthmus, said that he had a force of 10,000 men at San Cristobal, commanded by his brother Celestino Castro, and that he had 10,000 other troops in the three border states. He said that no option was left to him in that matter; that he must protect Venezuela."

"The situation exists in these three states, Merida, Tijuilla and Tachira. I am not aware that Dr. Rive, the Colombian minister, in leaving the legation in the hands of the American charge d'affaires had either demanded or received his passports. I know, however, that he felt it was impossible for him to remain longer and he went with the purpose of communicating with his government. General Pulido, the ex-minister of war, who was replaced by General Guerrero in the early part of August, left the cabinet because he could not approve of war with Colombia.

"My source of information as to the reported Colombian invasion is the statement made by General Castro above. The impression I received from my interview with President Castro was that he was fully determined to continue administering the affairs of Venezuela along the aggressive lines indicated by his recent actions."

Copies of President Castro's official organ published in Caracas which were brought here on the Maracibo today contain a proclamation from the president in which he calls "the Venezuelan patriots" to "rejoice as our flag streams in triumph over the Colombian frontier. The enemy has fled. The victory is ours. The rebels have been driven off 800 bodies of the rebels, their artillery abandoned, many taken prisoners and their banners torn."

This proclamation was issued after the battle of San Cristobal and is dated August 8. Of the same date and at the same place (San Cristobal) another proclamation issued by General Celestino Castro reads in part:

"General Gonzales Valencia has returned to invade us by the way of San Fostina, probably, although he has concealed his movement as much as possible. Thinking that possibly his advance might be checked by the force at the order to General Ruben Cardenas in order that with his battalions he might meet the enemy at Lacumbre where I judge enemy would have made their advance."

once sank. At the inquest held at Juneau which Mr. Snyder attended evidence developed which may tend to excuse the captain for not beaching her at once. Mr. Snyder said:

"The pilot testified that it was on the bridge and that as soon as she struck he told the captain he was going to beach her, but the captain said, 'No, there is a better place about three miles from here and she will easily float that long.'"

"The pilot also testified that there was a stowaway in the forward watertight compartment and when the vessel struck the water rushed in on him and he set up a big howl, and being immediately under the sailors' quarters they thoughtlessly rushed down and opened the compartment, which was the cause of the accident."

THE TOURISTS AND CRIPPLE CREEK.

UNDER the head "The Swine of Colorado Springs," the Cripple Creek Star reiterates the charges made by the Times-Citizen that the people of Colorado Springs have endeavored to cut short the stay of visitors in the Cripple Creek district, and that strangers about to visit Cripple Creek have been warned that decent accommodations could not be had there at a reasonable price.

Such accusations are utterly false, unkind and uncalled for, and the Gazette is greatly surprised that such newspapers as the Times-Citizen and the Star would permit such slanders to be perpetrated upon the people of Colorado Springs.

As a matter of fact there has been throughout this summer a notable disposition on the part of all the people of this city to advise all our visitors to visit Cripple Creek. This has been done for two reasons: first, because the ride over the railroads is one of the most pleasurable to be found anywhere in this country, and because Cripple Creek is itself a wonder not only of natural wealth but of man's industry and enterprise; and second, because our people have been quick to recognize the value of Cripple Creek, in an era of low fares and quick transit, as a most valuable addition to the attractions of this region.

Far from advising our visitors to stay away from Cripple Creek or to make their stay there short, we have taken every opportunity both in the newspapers and in private conversation to tell everybody that a visit to Colorado was utterly incomplete without a trip to Cripple Creek and that the wonders of the great gold camp could not possibly be seen to advantage in a single day.

What some of the Cripple Creek newspapers object to chiefly is the presence of the luncheon-box tourists. We hear again the story of the man who asked permission of a restaurant keeper to eat the lunch he brought with him, at the restaurant table and of the woman who wants to borrow a stove to heat the coffee she has in a bottle. These things are now in Cripple Creek, but Colorado Springs knows them of old, ever since the first low-rate excursion came westward across the plains, and we could match them with a dozen other stories equally as good. We have seen our railway station grounds, our parks and even our sidewalks littered with lunch boxes and fragments, we have had our experiences of visitors who have lived not for hours but for days on imported cornbread and cold chicken, and our restaurant men, hotel keepers and merchants have complained as some of the people at Cripple Creek are doing over the perversity, the poverty and the cheek of the cheap-rate tourists.

In so far as the complaints of the Cripple Creek papers against the people of Colorado Springs are sincere, they are utterly unjust. Colorado Springs is doing all that it can to build up and to promote the tourist business in the Cripple Creek district, because it is manifestly for our interest to do so. It would be quite as unreasonable to keep visitors away from Cripple Creek or to advise them to shorten their stay there as it would be to build a high fence west of this city and to deny them access to Manitou, the canons and Pike's Peak.

If, however, from some motive that the Gazette does not understand the Cripple Creek papers are striving to stir up feeling against Colorado Springs on the part of the people of the Cripple Creek district, they are doing a very poor service to their constituents. The Gazette, for one, will not be a party to any such controversy. The interests of the two communities are too closely allied and their people are now too friendly to permit such an attempt to succeed, and the people of Colorado Springs and its newspapers will continue to do all that they can for Cripple Creek, whether it be in mining, in the tourist business or in anything else that concerns the welfare of the two counties and the promotion and development of their common interests.

OIL PROSPECTING AT COLORADO CITY.

THE PROPOSITION to make a more thorough investigation of the possibilities of oil and gas at Colorado City is one that deserves commendation and encouragement. Some of our local capitalists could not do better than to devote a reasonable sum to the effort to find out what actually lies below the surface in this region.

Some time ago two wells were sunk at Colorado City, one near the creek not far from the Midland shops and the other in the east central part of the town. In both these wells a strong flow of gas was encountered, and the conditions were such as to encourage further prospecting. It was due entirely to lack of capital and not to lack of confidence that the promoters of these wells did not continue their operations.

Not long ago the Gazette published a communication from Prof. Arthur Lakes, a well-known geologist, in which he spoke most encouragingly of the surface prospects of this region and urged that a deep well be sunk for prospecting purposes. According to Professor Lakes there is a good chance of finding oil, gas or mineral water here. Although there is no certainty, of course, that we would find anything, there ought to be found enough people here who are willing to take chances "on a flyer." Colorado City has the first call, however, both because her people are already in the field for this enterprise and because the geological conditions are such that the necessary information can be gained at a much less depth than it could be further out on the plains.

We hope, therefore, that the Colorado City people will be successful in raising the capital necessary to make their experiment and that a thorough test will be made, not to find if gas is there, since we know that already—but to determine the value of the Colorado City natural gas field, and whether oil or artesian water may be found beneath that city.

A DEMOCRATIC VIEW OF TAMMANY.

WE ARE indebted to the Colorado Democrat for the following brief review of the political situation in New York city: "The annual combination of fake reformers, hypocrites, pharisees and political bunco steers of New York against Tammany Hall is now in process of incubation. Notoriety-seeking preachers, cheap skates and film flammers will now push their faces to the front and howl loud and long about the terrible wickedness of Tammany, and try and shove their arms to the elbows in the city treasury at the same time. When it's all over the tiger will be doing business at the old stand, giving the people of New York the same brand of good government at the usual reduced schedule of prices."

The very frank expression was not, however, needed to convince us that the Tammany Democrat of Denver and of Colorado was ready and desirous of giving that city and the state "the same brand of good (?) government at the usual reduced (?) prices."

WHY TRAIN ROBBERS SUCCEED.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE in commenting on the recent train robbery in Oklahoma, expresses surprise that a train robber should be able to hold up an entire car load or train load of passengers, and that in a section of the country where robbers are supposed to be carried by every traveler and "bad men" to be the rule rather than the exception.

It is probable that robbers are not so common an article of wearing apparel in the west as our eastern friends are taught to believe, and besides that it is not always the "bad man" who is most to be relied on for an exhibition of personal bravery in an emergency.

But the principal reason why train robbers are successful is because they are prepared and have a plan while the passengers are entirely at a loss to know what is coming next or what is the character of the men with whom they have to deal. And the second important reason is that in the mind of the average traveler no good reason exists why he should imperil his life in order to defend the property of the railroad company or his fellow travelers.

The man who suddenly appears at the end of a car with a mask over his face and a pistol in each hand may be Black Jack the outlaw or Billy Blings the plowboy. Unfortunately he is not accompanied by any certificate of identification except the sixshooters aforesaid. If he is a genuine desperado it probably means a quick death to anyone who attempts to interfere with his business; if he is a farm hand turned desperado he is quite as likely to kill somebody in the indiscriminate shooting that would ensue an attempt to resist his demands by force. There are comparatively few men, even in a region where pistol practice is common who possess the skill necessary to shoot a robber in a thickly tenanted car without hurting anyone else. And that is the reason why the average passenger who encounters the train robber or the first time, and very few ever have a second experience, devotes what wits he has to concealing his property, and thinks not at all of a duel with the robber or of shooting him in the back after he has passed.

Occasionally an express messenger or mail clerk, of unusual courage succeeds in driving away a robber or even killing one, but the chances of such a game are against the faithful employee, and while the public applauds his bravery and the railway company is apt to give him substantial recognition his example finds few imitators.

In fact the public is too much inclined to look upon a train robbery as a controversy between the robbers and the railway or express company in which the passengers are only indirectly concerned. To this conclusion the robbers themselves have contributed by their usual practice of refraining from interference with the passengers or with the United States mail. The purpose of the passengers is to provoke as little attention as possible, and to trust to the detectives for the proper punishment of the crime.

A different spirit might be commendable, but it does not exist. The average citizen, whether he be from New York, Texas or California sees no particular reason why he should expose his life in order to defend the interest of the particular railway company on whose line he happens to be traveling and trusts to luck to get out of the scrape with as little loss as possible.

A different spirit would make train robbery impossible, at the cost probably of some innocent lives, but the different spirit does not exist in any part of the United States that the Gazette knows of.

STATE FAIR PREMIUM LIST.

THE GAZETTE is in receipt of a very neatly printed little pamphlet which contains the premium list for the Colorado State fair, which is to be held in Pueblo, September 23, 24, 25, 26 and 27 next.

The list is a very complete one, including all kinds of domestic animals and farm products, as well as fine arts, needle and fancy work, pantry stores, school work and county exhibits. In addition to the regular list the Singer company offers a sewing machine as a prize for the best baby, boy or girl, under 12 months old, and a $65 steel range is offered to the couple to be married on the fair grounds.

The state fair is already assured of success and no county of the state can afford to be without representation there. There will undoubtedly be a large attendance from this city and it will be all the more numerous because our people have not forgotten the great interest taken in our Quarto-centennial celebration by the people of Pueblo and the large delegation that came here from that city.

ENFORCING THE GAME LAWS.

THE GAZETTE IS GLAD to notice that vigorous efforts are being made to enforce the game laws of the state, and especially those that are enacted for the protection of the mountain sheep and the buffalo, of which only a few remain in Colorado. Unfortunately the efforts of the game wardens are not always seconded as they should be by local sentiment, and too often it happens that the sympathy of the community is with the lawbreaker instead of with the officers of the law. The people of Colorado ought to realize that the wild game and the mountain scenery constitute a very valuable part of the natural resources of this state. To preserve the one in as much of its original beauty as is possible and to save the other from extinction at the hand of ruthless butchers or pot hunters should be the policy of all. The violator of the game law is an offender against all the people of the state and all should assist in his punishment.

MORE BY FITZ-MAC.

GAZETTE readers will be glad to learn that the article upon Judge Goodwin of the Salt Lake Tribune, which appeared in last Sunday's Gazette, is the first of a series to be written by Fitz-Mac upon the general subject, "The Great Editors of the United States."

These articles will not appear with any regularity, but will be written from time to time as may appear most suitable, and they will doubtless be awaited with unusual interest.

Approps of the article on Judge Goodwin, it seems to have attracted wide attention, and is the subject of much favorable comment in our exchanges.

It is reported that General Uribe-Uribe of Venezuela is still alive and fighting. Naturally a man with a name like that would have to be killed twice before he would be really dead.

The season at the Colorado Springs Opera house has begun most auspiciously, but the difficulty is even more apparent than last season that the house is not large enough for the number of people who wish to attend.

The permanent conquest of the Philippines will be accomplished by the school teachers rather than by the soldiers. Just the same it is a good thing that the soldiers went first.

THE BATTLE TO BEAT TAMMANY.

(By Hon. James O'Brien, Leader of New York City Democracy.)

It all the political forces antagonistic to Tammany Hall and desirous of securing the second city in the world can be united and the city of New York can be made a city of the future. There can be no question of his election. That candidate should be an independent Democrat, belonging to the mercantile, financial or manufacturing classes, one whose name and standing among his fellow citizens would be a platform and an assurance that honesty would be substituted for dishonesty, and clean administration for the feasting corruption that now prevails.

Why, it may be asked, an independent Democrat? Could not an independent answer be given to the question? The answer is that the Democratic party was, loyally supported by the Democracy as an independent Republican. His administration was not a success, and the government fell back into the hands of Tammany owing to the wretched political blundering and madness that put in the field a straggling and inefficient candidate. Tammany would have been beaten by the splendid majority of almost thirty thousand. Unite the army of voters that was then divided between Mr. Tracy and Mr. Low and Tammany will again march to defeat. But the Democrats have taken the city of New York as it is, and it is now only political play that this time a man from their own ranks should be at the head of the column.

Not in a long time has the feeling within the Democratic party against Tammany been so strong as it is at the present time. It pervades all classes, from the day laborer up to the most eminent men in the community. The terrible exposures of all manner of criminal rascality that have been made during the last ninety days have exposed the Tammany system in its entirety. Tammany is a system of corruption, and it is a system of corruption that is now being driven from its position. The best interests of the city demand that it should not be exclusively in the hands of a single party, but that it should be in the hands of a single organization. In a few hands and distributed among the adherents of a single organization. In my opinion the great offices and departments should be divided as evenly as possible between all parties. Under that system one becomes a check on the other. The Tammany system is a system of corruption, and it is a system of corruption that is now being driven from its position. The Bible, (Des Moines News.)

Joseph Jacobs of London, an avowed and justly President Harper's critic, has been many Chautauqua lecturers, who says, strain after a sensation and are misled by the utterances of some of his disciples. He says the truth is, "The Bible is losing prestige and must be changed to meet modern conditions."

"The Bible," he said, "is the dumbest book ever put out by a publisher, and it is the dumbest book ever read by the farmers and reveals only the truth. In the past 250 years the world has changed from a country to a city and the Bible is the dumbest book in the world, which by constantly putting in machinery and running its processes at night can keep up with the demand. Not long since the book stores of the country were

A story to illustrate her kindness of heart is that of an elderly lady-in-waiting to her mother, the late Queen of Denmark. In one of King Christian's weekly letters to his daughter, he wrote that the old lady was dying and that her one last wish was to speak again to her "dear Princess Alex." At that time it was impossible for Alexandra to leave England, but she sent a tender message of love and hope and remembrance into a photograph and sent it by special courier to Copenhagen.

story of the transformation of a wittol butterfly of the world into a useful member of society, awakened to the realization of the dignity and majesty of real living. The book, which promises to be a strong one, aims to illustrate Tolstoy's two seemingly paradoxical ideals—that, even one who has been a criminal for his life, and that every one should help a poor man with his work, or even do him, unquestionably if need be.

Many of Tolstoy's manuscripts, which are written in the most unpolished of his daughters. This fresh copy is secured with corrections, sentences cut-out and new ones substituted. The corrections seem to form as much as the original draft, the corrections hang over the margins and are connected by long lines with the passages they amend. Ink of a different color is added to the seemingly discarded copy in places which is then sent on a few faithful friends. Then, when it returns from the printer, Tolstoy begins to revise his proof as if it were a final copy. After the words "Powers of Darkness" he read it to his tenants, and the poor peasants cheered uproariously—but unfortunately at the most pathetic passages—under Monthly.

Mosquitoes and Yellow Fever.

An experimental sanitary station was established in the open, a mile from Quemados. Two houses were situated with their windows and doors protected by wire screens.

In one of these houses, soiled sheets, pillow-cases and blankets were used as bedding, and this bedding was strictly changed every day of patients sick with yellow fever at Havana. For 63 days these beds were occupied by members of the hospital corps for periods of 10 days each, and at the end of this occupation the men, who were all non-immunes, were taken to quarantine for five days and then released. Not one of them was attacked by the disease, and all were in excellent health. This experiment is of the greatest importance, as showing that the disease is not conveyed by fomites, and hence the disinfection of clothing, bedding and merchandise supposed to have been contaminated by contact with yellow fever patients is no longer necessary, and the extremes to which this disinfection work has been carried in case of yellow-fever epidemics in our southern states have been perfectly useless.

In the other house, which was known as the "disinfecting house," there were no articles which had not been carefully disinfected. The house contained two rooms, and non-immunes were placed in both rooms. In one room, which was separated from the wire-screen partitions only, mosquitoes which had bitten yellow-fever patients were admitted. In the other room the

EASTERN MARKETS

EASTERN HEARS TO

New York, Aug. 21.—The stock market was a quiet brooder and more methodical in its movements still no sudden changes. The reaction in the market was not so much a result of the news as it was of the fact that a large volume of the new issue of the U. S. Steel stock was being sold by the banks and the faithful out-draw on the market. The U. S. Steel stock was the most conspicuous movement recently in the market and the reaction of the market was simply a result of the fact that the new issue was being sold by the banks and the faithful out-draw on the market. Colorado Springs, Aug. 20.—The mining stock market today showed indications of weakness. The trading was even better than yesterday, and the demand for all classes of stocks was considerably more than supply. The advance in the market bore out a great many buying orders which had been lying in wait for a rise in prices, and the market was being sold at prices higher than they were just a few days ago. There was a great deal of buying instead of lower. Which is always the way of those who fancy that "the boom has not come yet," the feeling was more bullish yesterday than it has been for some time and the reports which came from Cripple Creek that the camp had never been so active as now tended to strengthen the feeling. The market really never been broken in the great gold camp. Elticon, which is one of the strongest stocks on the boards, was in greater demand than ever, selling up to $125.00. The market was very close to 418.25. The 1950 suffered quite a serious reaction to 21, but Gold Dredge was strong at 25, and Golden Cycle at 20. The 1950 was the highest per meter of both side, and sold up to 12, buyer 30, on the best of reports from the mine, but it is thought that the advance to 24, 1950 was the highest the shorts could take, than to any new developments on the property. Doctor was very strong, closing at 65%, and Mollie Gibson was in good demand, closing at 60%, and the 1950 at 50%. Elton F. was the favorite of the lower priced stocks, being very extensively traded in, and sold up to 14, due to an order for 1000 shares. The 1950 property which is located on Lead Creek hill.
